Man Leads Students To Nines—With The Power Of His Mind!

He's helped dozens of people win lotteries. Want his phone number?

EDMONTON, CANADA — A vindictive prof had left a trail of bloodshed and terror from one end of Canada to the other and campus security seemed powerless to corral the creep—till a world-famous psychic named Hanussan nailed the maniac in his tracks!

"This sicko had already failed seven defenseless women and we knew he'd keep on failing people unless we stopped him—but we didn't have a clue to work with till Hanussan found him for us," recalled detective Tino Miren.

But the capture of the Monster of Edmonton was just one more amazing tale in the career of the astonishing Hanussan, who also accurately predicted:

- The catastrophic decline of the Edmonton Oilers and the Edmonton Eskimos.

- The spine-chilling attack on Ralph Klein, everybody's favourite politician and drinking buddy, by commies and Cuban-cigar lovers.

- The seemingly unbelievable popularity of Babylon 5. "Who would have thought there were THAT many sci-fi geeks in Edmonton?"

Many people meditate with Hanussan regularly & report astonishing results.

If you would like to meditate with Hanussan too, and receive spiritual guidance & advice as well, a special opportunity is now available to you. Simply call 1-900-666-9898 and feel the power of his voice. ($4.50 per minute. Must be 18 years of age.)

MAN LOSES HEAD, GETS HEAD BACK!

By Christopher Robin / staff writer

Wallamoloo, Australia—After a tragic decapitation, Sam Goldman has a second chance. In a 208 hour operation, doctors were able to reattach his head after a terrible car accident!

Driving along, minding his own business, this 63-year-old baker's assistant swerved into an oncoming train when he was cut off by a vicious lunatic. Shocked onlookers feared for the worst after the man was run over by 121 grain cars.

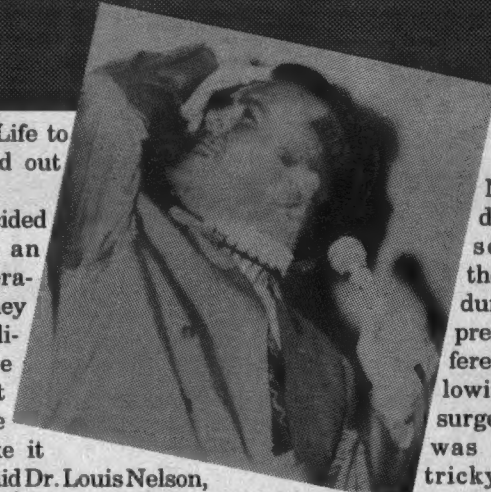

When paramedics pulled Goldman's body from his car, his head stayed behind!

"It was really gross," said one rescue worker. "We had to use the Jaws of Life to pull the head out separately."

Doctors decided to attempt an amazing operation when they saw the condition of the body. "What the hell, we couldn't make it any worse," said Dr. Louis Nelson, at the Sisters of Eternal Suffering Hospital.

"I was so worried," said his 15-year-old wife, Glenda. "I'd like to thank all the doctors who worked so hard for my husband, especially that really cute one with the tattoo on his butt."

Dr. Nelson described the procedure at a press conference following the surgery. "It was pretty tricky. We had to reattach that big white thing, what do you call it, that spinal thingy. The first time, we put the damn thing on backwards, so we had to lop it off and start all over."

Goldman couldn't talk to reporters because he is still dead.

Spewzanne Snot's tragic addiction to Kato

By JULES WILLY / staff writer

LOS ANGELES — While on a retreat in L.A. last summer, U of A Students' Union president Spewzanne Snot met Kato Kaelin at the beach. After several dates and a marijuana smoke-up session, Snot moved into Kaelin's OJ estate "poolhouse." It was there that she witnessed OJ returning, covered in blood, from the murder scene.

This week, Snot has been testifying for the prosecution, stating that she watched as the murders were committed. She and Kaelin, who is rumoured to now have a multimillion dollar book deal, were apparently having sex at Nicole's condo prior to the murders, when Nicole and Ron Goldman returned home and asked them to leave.

Defense attorney Joseph Shapiro grilled Snot incessantly about the reason for her visit to L.A.

"I swear, it was strictly SU business," Snot assured Shapiro. "We were working out a deal for future retreats at the Beverly Wiltshire hotel, where rates are much lower than at the Edmonton Inn. Plus, Germeat and I can go to the beach here." However, Snot was too busy partying it up to get down to the official reason for her trip last June.

Crown prosecutor Marcia Clarke noted that Snot was spotted in the white Bronco following the famous chase. Therefore, she was clearly a credible first-hand witness, who has no ties to either side.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Snot is telling the truth. She hasn't got any book deals on the way, or any movie deals. Why would she? She gets all the money she needs from the SU."

Since June, Kaelin and Snot have broken up and have reunited several times. She is currently rumoured to be pregnant with Kaelin's son.

"All I want is to return home," begged Snot yesterday, following her third day on the stand. Tomorrow, defense attorney Barry Schek is expected to grill Snot about her alleged involvement with OJ prior to the murders.

During Snot's busy few months in L.A., she has been replaced by a simulated robot version of her usual self. However, apparently no one noticed.

ELVIS SIGHTED IN BIOSCI

Elvis at 60?

Dead? Never! Elvis is alive, well, and in hiding at the U of A according to astonished fans.

EDMONTON — Elvis made an unexpected appearance to students writing exams Wednesday. The King of Rock 'n' Roll burst into exams after spending a month wandering around the infamous University of Alberta Biological Sciences building!

It turns out that this sexy crooner heard a rumour that the Bio/Sci cafeteria had the best peanut butter and banana sandwich this side of Mississippi. In an exclusive interview with the Weakly, he says, "It seemed like a good idea at the time."

He entered the building through a North entrance. But, after five minutes of wandering the halls, he immediately got lost. "They all look the fucking same!" pouts Presley.

It took him two weeks to find the cafeteria. He saw many students in that time, but when he said who he was, they all looked at him blankly and scurried off. "Nobody would give me the time of day. I only knew when it was night because it was dark outside."

Upon finding the cafeteria, this anxious American ran into a n o t h e r problem: the staff would not accept American dollars. "They just glared at me. When I tried to explain who I was and that I was lost, they just laughed.

And then they told me it was closing time and slammed the window down."

Dazed and confused, this flashy heartthrob wandered out around the building for another couple of weeks. He found the cafeteria twice more, but both times it was closed. He did find plenty of food, though. He discovered the plant lab on the sixth floor and broke in. "You people are crazy! You grow corn inside. Why?," pondered Presley.

He also trapped mice and roasted them over bunsen burners. "You know, deep fried and with a little gravy, they'd taste just like the fried chicken my mother used to make."

His ordeal was finally finished when he burst into an exam. After explaining his plight, one of the T.A.s took pity on him and led him to the front door. Relieved, the King broke into song and serenaded his saviour. Says Matthew Chan, "It was embarrassing. But man, could he sing. Who was he again?"

Woman keeps pet pooch forever!

A widow in Whitesville, Kentucky will never be lonely again. Mavis Kuklan, 83, had her favorite pet poodle Prissy stuffed and placed at the foot of her rocking chair!

Mavis was deeply distressed when Prissy was run over by a police cruiser. "I just couldn't live without my Prissy!"

said the plucky grandmother.

Neighbors were a little worried that the spirit of the tiny pooch wouldn't be properly laid to rest, but the community performed a soul-saving ritual and everybody is happy.

"Everybody is happy!" said one neighbor. "We thank the Lord every day for this wonderful miracle!"

Students' Union Year in Review...

So what has the SU been doing this year?

By Suzanne Scott, President

It's nice to find out once in a while what our SU fees are doing for us. It's time for a quick report on what we have been up to this past year. Our Annual Report will have all the details, but for now, in point form, here are some of the results your SU has achieved for you:

Providing and enhancing services that meet your needs

Students' Union Services

Our services had another positive and productive year! This past term and during the next year we will be undertaking an evaluation of all of our services to ensure we're providing what you need. Your comments are much appreciated in helping us achieve this goal. The services are working together as a team in a new centralized location to serve you better!

Lobbying for a Higher Quality of Education

Universal Course Evaluations

They're here! The first evaluations were published after years of hard work on the part of many SU executives. Now you can check out the teaching ability and styles of your professors before you get to class. Further work is being done right now to improve them for next year. For now, you can look at the list at any SU Info Booth, or get a print out at the Registries.

Provincial Gov't White Paper & the Federal Gov't Green Paper

The U of A SU sent in a response to the White Paper, and through CAUS met with the department of Advanced Ed to influence the changes made to post-secondary education in Alberta.

The Green Paper took up most of our lobbying time this year, and combined with a postcard campaign and a joint lobby with other University groups which included meetings with Cabinet ministers, MPs, and various policy makers, we gave input to the federal plans for post-secondary education.

General Lobbying

Gotta get that activism up! In conjunction with Students' Unions across the country, and thanks to your participation, we held a successful postcard campaign to fight some of the cuts proposed in the federal green paper. The SU supported the idea of student groups on campus expressing their concerns to the government, and contributed financially to assist many of these groups. We have also met with many MLAs to bring educational issues to the forefront.

A National Lobby Group

This year we formalized a federal association, called CASA (Canadian Alliance of Student Associations). A coalition of student associations conceived at the U of A's Directing the Winds of Change conferences, among other places, CASA will work at the federal level to influence national policy on quality and funding of post-secondary education.

Making the Grade - Academic Survey

With your participation in the 4000 surveys this past year, we were able to get in writing what students have been saying for years - textbook prices are too high, there should be better lighting in CAB, the nine-point grading system should be examined, and the overall quality of teaching is pretty good, among others. We took this to the Board of Governors, and they have directed the administration to come up with a formal response.

Student Financial Assistance Annual Tuition Increase Cap maintained

Making the Grade

Provincial lobbying through C A U S (Council of Alberta University Students), managed to convince the government to maintain the annual tuition increase cap, ensuring that tuition increases can only amount to no more than a maximum of $215+inflation/year.

Building SUB into a Centre of Activity 24 Hour Study Space in SUB

You asked for it and we did it again. Based on the response from last year, SUB is open 24 hours during exam week. Study. Study. Study. On average, we have over 400 people per hour using SUB for that purpose. Study space was also a concern in the academic survey, and we'll be working with the Administration on increasing the amount of study space on campus.

Representing Your Concerns

On Campus...

We're representing students at all the campus decision making bodies, including Board of Governors, Senate, General Faculties council, Alumni Association and the Council on Student life. Student input into things like the proposed elimination of the faculty of Dentistry, the possible changes to the Code of Student Behavior, and other issues have insured that students' concerns are always addressed.

Keeping Administration Accountable

Currently compiling and analyzing statistics from StatsCan reports to compare the expenditures of our university in key areas to similar universities across the country. Also, with the academic survey, and plans for another major survey next year, we're working to give the administration feedback from students on areas that need improvement.

In Edmonton...

We've made presentations to city council to lobby for maintenance of transit services.

Golden Bears and Pandas Legacy Fund
Funding our Athletics teams for travel, hosting tournaments, and doing promotions.

CREFC

The Committee to disburse the funds from the 93/94 referendum on a Campus Recreation Enhancement Fund got up and running this year, and has disbursed the first round of funds to ensure that all students get the most out of their campus recreation experiences.

First Year Experience

New plans are under way to improve the first year experience here on campus. It is hoped that an improved experience will make the transition from high school or the work force, to the University smoother. Some changes will be seen for next September, and the rest in 1996.

Bear Nuts and Pep Rallies

This year saw an improvement in the relationship with Athletics on more than just the financial front, as the SU took a greater role in promoting campus athletics and athletes. Our Bear Nuts could be seen at just about every event, raising hell and taking prisoners. The pep rallies throughout the year, on SUB stage, in Dinwoodie Lounge, and even in Clarke stadium, were a great success, as they helped students realize that the person sitting next to them in class could also be the one who's on the front page of the Journal winning a national championship.

Exec Column

As the Gateway is the best way to communicate with students, this year's exec (with the help of the Gateway editors) wrote a weekly column about issues of the day. These ranged from food on campus to the benefits of getting involved to the fact that university is a place to do a lot of growing up.

University Services and Health Services move to SUB

Well, the plans are pretty much finalized, and things are moving quite smoothly. Students' Council passed a motion to support a temporary fee increase to move Health Services into the building, and the University will be paying to move its Student Services. They will be located on the second floor of SUB within a year and a half (we hope!).

Volunteer Centre in SUB

Volunteer Connections will be a reality by the time you come back in September. It will be a sort of central-storehouse of volunteer opportunities around the city to help you help others, if you know what we mean.

Making SU Businesses profitable

Dewey's
Well, we finally renovated the place. We hired Hothouse Designs, U of A alumni, to take us to places we'd never dreamed of. Pretty cool, eh?

Management Agreement with Athletics

The Students' Union has expanded our Food & Beverages department (and improved our bottom-line) by bringing in the Bears' Den. We've completed a one-year management agreement with Athletics to run the place, and we're now working on a similar long-term deal. Out of this agreement also came the opportunity to sell beer at athletic events.

Western Union

We've started a new service that will also help us financially. Now you can just go to the Copy Centre in the Lower Level of SUB to send or receive money from anywhere in the world. "Mom and Dad, hurry up and send tuition/ or 4 years of work won't come to fruition..."

SUBtitles

A new place to buy and sell books on campus! You can consign them or sell them for cash, as well as buy them cheaper than they would have been if they were new. Did you know that we also consign used tapes and CDs, as well as Bears and Pandas clothing? And, coming soon - our very own U of A crested clothing!

Canadian Campus Business Consortium

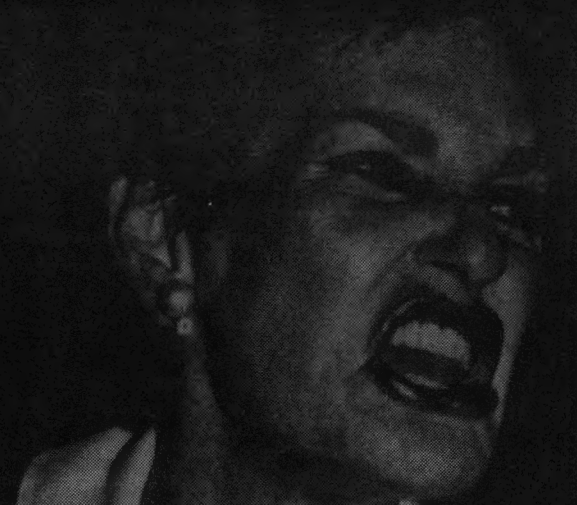

This is a national buying group created right here at the U of A! There are over 16 campuses involved with a combined budget of over $50 million. We've received offers from many large corporations (including beverage suppliers...) who want our business very badly. Over the long term, this organization will save the SU hundreds of thousands of dollars through bulk purchases and joint business ventures.

Planning for Next year and beyond

Students' Union Strategic Plan

The SU strategic plan was finalized this year setting the direction for the Students' Union for years to come. Next year will see the departments of the SU utilize this plan to create their own operational strategic plan.

LIONESS LEONA!

RIVER CITY, Canada—The Gateway newspaper is under new ownership after an aggressive corporate takeover by one of America's most powerful financial magnets, Leona Helmsley, who was recently released from prison!

Although the femme fatal of the business world declined to comment, insiders have speculated that she purchased the trendy campus newspaper because of an unfulfilled childhood dream of becoming a journalist.

"She totally wants to be a Lois Lane figure. I think she intends run the paper her way from now on," says a source close to Leona, who doesn't want to be identified.

Although the paper will become a daily newspaper and more than double its size and circulation, as well as offer full-colour photos, many Gateway staffers fear for the future.

"I think that old battle-axe is going to muzzle us on certain topics. For example I understand that we will no longer be allowed to write about the criminal records of SU employees. Damn, that was always our best ticket to a hot story," laments a Gateway hack, who doesn't want to be identified.

The newspaper's former owner, the Students' Union, are baffled by the sudden interest in a newspaper they have long considered substandard and corrupt.

"We don't know what to say. They made us an offer too good to refuse. What can I say? What was the question?" says an SU executive member, who doesn't want to be identified.

EGGHEAD LIBS: SCREW OFF!

OH, CANADA!
By Head Banger

I'm madder than a castrated stallion over these snot-nosed college brats and their whiny demands for 'political correctness.'

What will these bleeding-heart pinheads think of next? They want to stomp all over our God-given right of free speech, and you know what makes me pig-biting mad? They want to do it with MY tax dollars!

I think these stupid kids have been taking too many classes in smoking drugs and need an introduction to the real world.

Loony university kids want 'person-hole covers' and 'sanitation engineers,' well the time has come to call a spade a spade, not an African-American. I say the pendulum has to start to swing back from radical feminists towards the God-fearing right-wing.

Back to the days when you said 'fag' and 'spic' and everybody knew what everyone else was talking about.

It has been scientifically proven that these egghead liberals have royally screwed up this country. Studies have shown that working moms have raised deviant children with a tendency towards drugs and crime. Now these Feminazis want to change the way I talk? Screw them. I'll talk the way I want, and I've got my .44 Magnum to back me up.

That's the problem with this country today, nobody has the balls to say what they really feel, and so they need pathetic Human Rights Commissions to hold their hands.

Here's my solution. To keep from being over-run by communist freaks we need to speak loud and clear. My dipshit therapist said communication is everything, and for once the moron said something bright. We shouldn't hide behind this wimpy language, we should call 'em like we see 'em, and damn the consequences. Kaplan!

I speak out the way I do because I care about this country.

Losers like these college kids only want to drag this great nation of ours down into the festering cess-pool of pinko stupidity.

Next year, don't pay the tuition for your lazy kids, let them work for a change. Maybe then they will open their eyes and stop being elitist babies.

Gateway flooded!

Late last Friday night, someone, known only by the alias 'Complete Asshole' flooded the offices of a university students' newspaper in Edmonton, a place somewhere in Canada.

Witnesses say that the two inches of water which covered almost the entire second floor of the building was a blessing in disguise.

"We found things floating around that we thought had long since disappeared," said one of the few people willing to talk to us.

Not everything found floating around was pleasant, and the editors of the newspaper known as the Gateway, are planning to hunt down the perpetrator and hang him by his toenails.

Other repercussions include a change in the newspaper's name. From now on it will be known as the Spillway.

The police have only one lead. The night of the incident an SU volunteer appreciation event was happening in Dinwoodie lounge, a campus watering hole only a few doors down from the offices.

"We're not sure, but we'd like to think that this incident was someone's way of telling the SU that the Gateway NEEDS to stay on the second floor. If the offices had been in the basement, we would have lost thousands of dollars in computer equipment. Whoever did this must really love us," said Youmewet Willyams.

Pretty fucking funny, eh? Too bad it's not a joke.

Follow up: SUB janitors are angels in disguise! Thanks, guys.

INVASIO

ZAKRON V USES POSERS TAKE OVER THE U OF A

by Simpering Bliss and Nath-N Fairbairn

Su execs replaced by aliens from Zakron V!

"I knew it" stated student activist Duvid Mulmo-Lupine. "Those fuckers. Give me another doobie," he continued.

The alien takeover occurred sometime, coincidentally, during the exec's last retreat on Zakron V, the legendary home of sex slaves and intergalactic drug dens.

When asked about the accusations, president Spewzanne Snot angrily replied, "Bullshit, we were just having a great time fuckin' and tokin' up at students expense. You got a problem with that? What are you gonna do, fire me? Shithead."

The World Weakly Spews was tipped off by an alert reader who noticed a mysterious second head appear on Spewzanne Snot's neck. "I knew there was something fucked with that, man," explained Joe Blow. I thought it was just a bad trip at first, but every time I've seen her since, that freakin' head keeps poppin' up. Weeeeeiiiiird."

When asked about the second head, Scott replied, "So? What's your point?"

The rest of the exec have also been seen manifesting physical characteristics not commonly attributed to the human species. Common examples which should be noted include: Germeat Alalalala's beard, Ferret Postit's ever present baseball cap, and Narmin.

But where are the real execs? The Weakly World Spews' informant back on Zakron V told the paper that the execs were still partyin' hardy.

When asked if they were aware of the alien takeover here on earth, Kasawawawasaki allegedly responded "What??"

The leader of Zakron V was asked in an interview about the motives behind the takeover. He explained, "Well, it certainly isn't to subvert the minds of your youth while in their formative stages, if that's what you're getting at. No way. Not a chance. We'd neeeever do that. And we don't have Elvis so stop asking."

Elvis declined to comment on this situation.

OTHELLO J. SIMPSON

Secret manuscript shows Shakespeare predicted the Trial of the Century!

By AL ITERATE

Literary Correspondent

BIRMINGHAM, England—William Shakespeare predicted the outcome of the O.J. Simpson trial nearly four hundred years ago!

So says Bangers N. Mash, owner of a chip shop in this bustling northern city. Last week, in his chimney, Mr. Mash discovered a soiled manuscript written by someone called "B.S."—which, as everyone knows, were the initials of William Shakespeare when he went under the name of Bill.

The rare manuscript (reportedly valued at $253,786 Jamaican!) contains an alternate ending to Shakespeare's famous play, Othello. Mr. Mash explains, "Well, y'see, in the original play, this big black fella named Othello dices up 'is woman, who was a fine white lass."

Now I'm not saying O.J. is guilty and I don't want to bias those of you who filled out our Weakly World Spews sweepstake to guess the verdict. [Remember, the prize includes an all-expenses paid trip to the scene of the crime!] But what Mr. Mash further reveals is truly shocking...

"In my copy of the play, Othello doesn't kill 'imself like in the original," the portly shop owner says. "Actually, 'e gets taken back to the city of Venice Beach and goes to trial."

And that's where the stunning similarities get even more amazing. Read on to learn more from this exclusive excerpt:

DRAMATIS PERSONAE

Othello J. Simpson, the Moor & great Venice Beach general as well as sports star (known also as Nordberg)

Kato Kaelini, his friend & opium addict
The Fair Nicola, wife of the Moor, found dead beside her page boy Romeo Goldman
Lancelot Ito, Duke of Venice Beach & judge of the tribunal

Marcella Clark, the prosecutor & dead-beat mom

Roberto Shapiro, Giovanni

Cochranissimo & Carlo Douglas, the three amigos fighting for the defense

Marco Fuhrman & Dennisimo Fung, soldiers in the Venice Beach brigade

Jeanetta Harris, outspoken jurist

Rosa Lopez, housekeeper

[O.J. arrives astride a white bronco led by Fung and Fuhrman.]

Fuhrman: Your honour, I give you Othello J. Simpson, the Moor!

Ito: Very well, let us begin. (Looks around.) Hast anyone seen Jeanetta Harris or the rest of the jury?

Fung: Aye, my lord, 'twas truly an horrific sight—she stood on the promenade beside the sea (where the scantily clad lasses frolic) and declared that she had hung all the jury!

Ito: Sweet Buddha!

Fung: And then, my lord, she was devoured by the Sea En-En—a horrible monster of the oceanic depths!

O.J.: Aye, I know it well.

Marcella: My lord, as prosecutor, I must protest—'tis impossible to hold a trial without a jury!

Ito: Marcella, methinks thou doth protest too much. Call the first witness.

Marcella: But, my lord—

Ito: Silence! Commence with the trial or I shall summon thou husband and kids!

Marcella: Very well; I call to the stand Rosa Lopez, housekeeper. [Lopez takes the stand, stobbing.] Where wast thou on the dark and stormy night in question?

Rosa: Oh Mary, sweet mother of Jesus... [She starts crying and points at Simpson.] He hath done it, my honour—he hath killed my mistress!

O.J.: [Rising.] She lies!

Ito: Sit thyself down!

O.J.: No! [Draws his poignard and points it at Ito.] I WANT TO TELL THOU the truth.

Rosa: Thou can't handle the truth!

[Simpson grants the housekeeper a bloody death, whilst she screams horrendously.]

Ito: Guards, restrain this man!

Aliens drop space toilet!

Special Effects: The Honey Bunny

Supposedly built to house the University of Alberta Drama department, the Timms Centre for the Arts is actually a toilet for giant space aliens! This photo shows their sneaky saucer soaring into the early morning sky after one of their members used the facilities during the night. The crafty creatures abducted millionaire Wally Timms and brainwashed him into signing a will which provides the money for construction of the building, the lobby of which has a disguised receptacle for alien waste—from here it gets channeled into a cavern below the underground parkade. Dr. R.U. Sirius, in the Department of Astroexcrementology at the University, explains it this way: "If you're a space alien on your way from Zakron V to, say, the Andromeda Galaxy, you don't want to have a washroom taking up valuable space in your saucer. It makes much more sense to drop these galactic port-a-potties along your route." (Dr. Sirius also identified the faces drawn on the surface of Mars.) Let's hope they don't forget to flush!

[Furman and Fung pull poignards.]

O.J.: I shall slay thee, white boy. [He tackles and runs Furman through.]

Fung: [Drops to his knees.] Have mercy, dark lord. I side with you!

O.J.: Fair enough, Fung. Join myself and my amigos in slaughtering this smug Ito and shrill Marcella. [They chase the shrieking Marcella, who jumps into the lap of Ito.]

Kato: [His blade at Ito's throat.] I shall kill thee, dude, in the name of my fair Spuzanne!

Ito: [Waves his hand.] Shazam! [O.J. and his posse disappear in a blinding flash of light.] Hmmm...for some reason, I now desire orange juice—et tu, Marcella?

'THOSE GIRLS ARE ONLY HUMAN!'

By PARKING LOTT

Spews regularly. I have proof.

In the ultimate personnel move of the season, Pandas outdoors-on-the-grass hockey head coach Druid Marshel has reactivated herself as a player after nearly a decade of coaching. Marshel will step into the new role of player/coach and is anxious to get started.

"I thought it was time to get back into the game," replied Marshel when initially questioned. "It was a pretty strong desire to get back into the skirt tough," explained Druid. "I bet you none of the players today know what it is like to call a time-out so they can get some stitches or have a bone reset. I am going to teach them that pain and how to win with it."

One might wonder what kind of ideology this game plan is based on but to Marshel it is not a game plan, it is a way of life.

"How can you beat them on the field if you couldn't beat them in

"You know, when you run with the stick you have to play tough. To play tough you have to be tough."

—Druid Marshel making sense on a plane of existence other than the one you and I inhabit and swing the stick."

Marshel, during her playing days, was known as a tough customer on the turf. Along with her two sisters who play by her side, Druid was long rumoured to be the inspiration for the Hansen brothers of the movie classic Slapshot.

"[Druid] was hell-bent to hurt someone every time she was out on the field," recalls current Pandas captain Socks Summerville. "I remember, when I was little, watching her go out and getting so upset about a bad play that she would take a whack at anyone, even one of her own players...did I mention I might go play for the national team?"

Kitty Hunter is more optimistic about Druid's return.

"Maybe when she becomes a player again she won't make us practice blocking shots," related a hopeful Kitty.

When asked about her aggressive past, Marshel relates it to her future plans for the team.

"You know, when you run with the stick you have to play tough. To play tough you have to be the back alley?" asked Marshel.

Retiring Panda Patches Pistanka was asked what kind of advice she might give next year's team to prepare.

"If I were them, I would be soaking my hands in some vaseline for about four months," replied Patches.

Upon hearing of Marshel's return the department of Athletic Support predicted that "a return to old-time hockey will mean field hockey will become a very popular sport on campus."

Red Fenske, outdoors-on-the-grass hockey critic and long time rough-house hockey advocate, was a little more hesitant about predicting the future.

"Those girls are only human," explained Fenske. "Druid was a machine and the players are a lot different today." I'm just glad I am not playing, but it will definitely be interesting.

Nothing to do with the story, she's just a babe.

Send in the Smurfs!

By J. Miguel Sanchez

Spews Correspondent

It was the dawn of the third age of mankind. Ten years after 1985. That would make the year 1995. That's now. Never really figured out that "third age" thing. Fuck it. I'm starting over.

The Edmonton Eulers are in for a "little" help.

In a landmark deal, General Manager Glen Sather has traded away Shayne Corson, Doug Weight, Igor Kravchuk, and Joey Moss for the following Smurfs: Brainy, Hefty, Handy, Vanity, "Papa" Smurf and Smurfette of the Smurf Village Blues.

"I think the deal definitely benefits Edmonton," said Don Cherry, popular hockey personality and loser. "They've got a real sniper with Handy, and Smurfette is a killer in the corners."

'Meow.'

—Azrael the cat.
WHAT BRILLIANCE!

Besides, the Blues can't put Corson, Weight and Kravchuk together on the same line because their combined body size will completely cover the Smurf Village ice rink."

There was some disagreement about the potential contribution of the new players.

"We have all the tools for a playoff run now," said Jason Arnott, Euler forward. "We used to suck. Now with Brainy and Handy on the wing, finally I have the required talent to completely float during an entire game. Papa may be getting on a bit, but he's still our best centre, hands down. Hefty's a great stand-up defenceman and Smurfette's probably the best checker in the league right now."

"Come on—they're Smurfs," noted Peter White, Euler "player." White went on to point out that the new arrivals are only three apples tall, therefore incapable of actually playing NHL hockey. According to White, there are still other issues to be dealt with.

"Sure they say they're three apples tall, but has anyone really checked that?" continued White. "I mean, I always thought they were a lot smaller—closer to my dick. And what kind of measuring system is 'apples' anyway? Are these those thick, juicy BC apples? Or are we talking the ugly, tiny green crab apples from everyone's backyard? How many metres are in an 'apple' exactly?"

"Just as long as there aren't any worms in them, I'm happy," expressed Lameus Lame.

Peter Pocklington noted that he will see a financial return on the smurfy investment, whatever happens.

"If they don't produce, I can turn them into gold. That's why I made sure Sats got six of them. No, I'm not crazy."

Concern arose over some old rivalries being reignited.

"They have no hope now," said Gargamel, longtime sworn enemy of all Smurfs and known Flames fan. "It's a lot harder to hide Edmonton than Smurf Village. There's no escape for them. Maybe not today, maybe not tomorrow, but soon, one game night—BOOM! Seeya later Edmonton Coliseum."

"Meow," agreed Azrael.

" $e^i = \cos x + j \sin x$," said one Euler. Nine out of ten newspaper editors at a local university expressed confusion and a lack of "getness" regarding that last joke.
